

BARBADOS-BASED COMPANY HIRES V-COMM TO BUILD WIRELESS BUSINESS

SAINT MICHAEL, BARBADOS, WI, December 10, 2002 -- V-COMM, a leading telecommunications engineering firm, has been retained by Barbados-based Sunbeach Communications Inc. to assist the company in acquiring a license to build and operate a wireless phone system on the Caribbean island. V-COMM will provide Sunbeach with complete end-to-end services for the acquisition, planning, build-out and ongoing operation of its wireless network.

"We believe that the expertise V-COMM brings to Sunbeach will be the difference in helping us to not only win the license, but also build and manage a high-quality wireless network for the people of Barbados," said Chris Alleyne, CEO of Sunbeach Communications.

Formed as an Internet service provider in 1995, Sunbeach Communications Inc. has grown to become a foremost provider of communications services on the island of Barbados, serving more than 10,000 residents and businesses. In 2001, Sunbeach turned its attention to the corporate market, introducing wireless broadband access. The company continues to add new services, including plans to offer wireless phone service.
